

Having a regular dealer in the unregulated drug supply

WHAT DID WE DO?

We looked at whether a person's drug checking results matched their expectations and if that was related to having a regular drug dealer or source.

WHAT WE USED:

WHAT WE FOUND:

83%

of participants reported having a regular drug dealer

There was no association between drug checking results matching expectations and having a regular drug dealer.

WHY DOES THIS MATTER?

The unregulated drug supply can be unpredictable, even with a regular dealer. Drug checking is an important part of harm reduction by giving people a way to know what's in their drugs.
